

Photography Students

Over the summer you should produce an album of photographs that document your journey over the summer through your camera. You can use any type of photography and should try and show a range of styles (think Instagram, stop-motion animation, digital, analogue, or macro photography). You should also aim to visit at least one photography gallery or exhibition. Document your gallery visit through ticket stubs, notes about the photographers or artists you see and any photographs you take during your visit to the gallery or postcards you collect—essential to support an Assessment Objective later on.

‘Document your summer in 30 photographs’: You should document a narrative in only 30 photographs that explain what you did over the summer holidays. Think about interesting composition, angles and viewpoints when composing your narrative. Use www.studentartguide.com as a resource to help you, as well as the starting points below:

- Photographs that represent ‘atmosphere’ e.g. Landscapes, weather, holiday scenery, etc
- Photographs that represent ‘home’ e.g. Personal belongings, rooms in your house, infrastructure, etc
- Photographs that represent ‘personality’ e.g. Fashion statements, emotions, controversial signage, etc
- Photographs that represent ‘textures’ e.g. Surfaces, fabrics, patterns, etc
- Photographs that represent ‘events e.g. Portraits, signage, colours, etc

Art Students

Over the summer you should produce a sketchbook that documents your journey over the summer through sketching/photography/scrapbooking/mixed media. You should also aim to visit at least one Art gallery or exhibition. Document your gallery visit through ticket stubs, postcards, notes about the artists—these are essential to support Assessment Objectives 1 and 3 later on.

‘Document your summer in a sketchbook’: You should document your holiday in a sketchbook to portray what you did over the school break. Think about interesting composition, textures, colours and viewpoints when sketching. Use www.studentartguide.com as a resource to help you, as well as the starting points below:

- Drawings or photographs that represent the ‘atmosphere’ e.g. Landscapes, weather, holiday scenery, etc
- Drawings or photographs that represent your ‘home’ e.g. Personal belongings, rooms in your house, infrastructure, etc
- Drawings or photographs representing ‘personality’ e.g. Fashion statements, emotions, controversial signage, etc
